

New Definition of “Nothing”

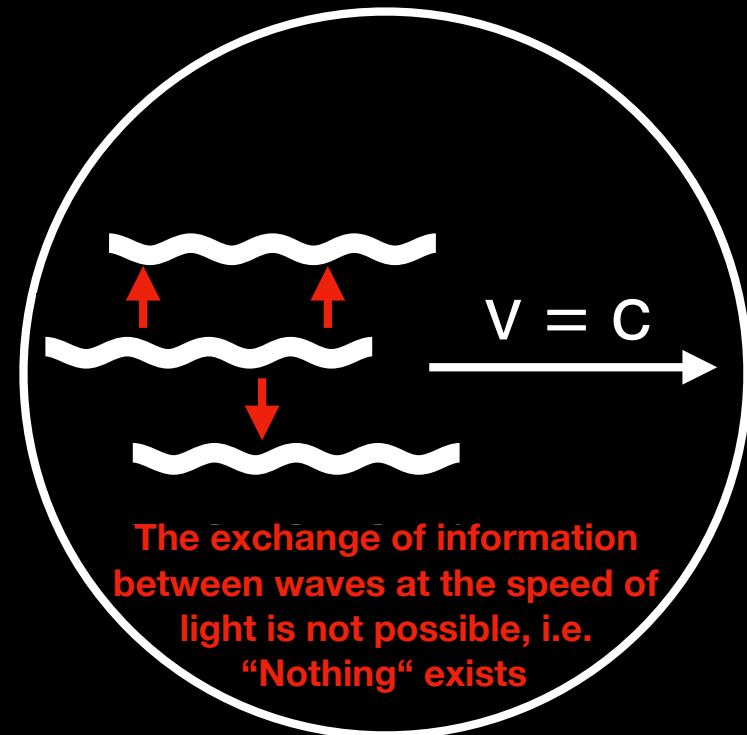

Old Definition

“Nothing” is considered as a completely empty state

New Definition

If all information is stored in the form of energy, moving at the speed of light, i.e. the state before the Big Bang:

This new definition of “Nothing” allows the law of conservation of energy to persist at this state